- How to work with Recruiters
- Practical, Inspiring and achievable 10-year career plan
- How to grow your professional network with a few clicks

My Story

“8 Years ago I decided to give up a highly successful 15 year career in Executive Recruitment and become a part and then full-time Psychology student. Back then my self-belief to make this change was very, very low. After going through my divorce, losing my father (to mental health), and a financial tsunami I reached my goal to become a fully registered Psychologist. I am still pinching myself. I share this story to let you know that it is possible to change careers and take all of your experience, skills, knowledge and I am sure wisdom with you. I have developed our Career Guidance programs based on real personal and professional experience that also include helping you find the confidence and motivation to make that change. Margie Ireland – Founder of C-I-T and The Prosperous Workplace.”

Workshops

We tailor career workshops for groups over a breakfast/lunch discussion, half day, or network event.

Why Us

C-I-T guides professionals to be an employee of choice. We use practical proven tools that build your confidence, capability and direction for the career you want. Our career coach is also a registered Psychologist who can provide support to those struggling with career change, job loss and redundancy.

Your key goal is a successful career and ours is to show you how. C-I-T helps individuals connect with a greater network, inspires new thinking during career change which transforms career outcomes. We cure Career Blues.
